TERRORISTS FROM THE MIDDLE EAST ARE IN THE CARAVAN TRAVELING THROUGH MEXICO

More than 30,000 illegals from countries listed as having high terrorist concerns crossed into the U.S. from Mexico in 2015.(1)

In just one year, from July 2016 to July 2017, there were 7,712 terrorist encounters in the U.S. originating from the Mexican border.(2)

Many of these illegals crossing into the U.S. from Mexico were smuggled into the U.S. via South and Central American smuggling networks specializing in individuals from the Afghanistan-Pakistan region, the Middle East, and Africa.(3)

A border patrol agent said: "... there is a clear pipeline from the Middle East through Mexico." (4)

Thousands of these illegals entering the U.S. from Mexico were found to be from Pakistan, Egypt, Yemen, North Africa, and various Mid-East countries. (5)

In 2018, more than 668 Bangladeshis crossed illegally into the US from Mexico.(6) Bangladesh is the 4th largest Muslim country in the world and Islamic extremism is extremely high Bangladesh. Al-Qaeda's fastest growing network is in India and Bangladesh.

Venezuela: the pipeline

In December 2017, Venezuelan dictator Nicolás Maduro attended a meeting of the Organization of Islamic Cooperation (OIC). The OIC is headquartered in Saudi Arabia and funded by Muslim countries that systematically persecute Christians and Jews. At the OIC meeting Maduro met with Muslim leadership from various countries known to sponsor terrorism.

More than 800,000 "refugees" travelled from Turkey to Europe in 2015.(7) Mainstream media reported them as being Syrian but this was a lie. From September 2014 until January of 2017, ISIS controlled four of the Syrian border crossings with Turkey and Jaish al-Fateh controlled the other. Jaish al-Fateh is a coalition army of foreign jihadists who were armed and funded by Turkey and Saudi Arabia.(8)

In 2015 alone, more than 360,000 militant Islamists, from at least 80 different countries, traveled to Syria and Iraq to fight for an Islamic State.(9) When the call to jihad went out, Islamists from around the world answered the call.

The five Syrian-Turkish border crossings were controlled by terrorist groups. They did not allow "refugees" out. Christians who attempted to cross the Turkish border were tortured and killed. The people allowed out of Syria through the Syria-Turkish border were militant Islamists from the various 80 different countries.

Ferry boats and other ships, normally used for Haj, were used to transport the first waves of "refugees" from Turkey to parts Europe. These "refugees" were then shuffled onto trains and buses, which were also organized and waiting for them, and which took the refugees deeper into Europe. It was a well-coordinated invasion, done with the help of Turkey and Saudi Arabia.

Venezuela has had strong ties with Saudi Arabia and Turkey for many years.

The surge in the Muslim population in Venezuela began in 1993 when Saudi Arabia built a mega mosque in Venezuela. At that time, Venezuela's president, Carlos Perez, said: "The mosque represents our excellent relations between Venezuela and Saudi Arabia".

Today, the Sheikh al-Ibrahim mosque in Caracas is the second largest mosque in Latin America, but there are many prominent mosques throughout Venezuela and Latinos are the fastest growing population of converts to Islam.

Venezuela has Arabic cable television outlets and Saudi Arabian channels.

In November 2015, Turkish President Erdogan held a conference of Muslim leaders from Latin America stating that Muslims had reached the Americas before Christopher Columbus. According to Islamic Doctrine, when Muslims step foot on foreign land, that land becomes Islamic land forever.

At the news conference, Erdogan told reporters that the Cuban government had given Saudi Arabia permission to build a Mega Mosque in Havana and that Turkey planned to build mosques in various locations throughout Cuba. Both Turkey and Saudi Arabia see the rapidly growing Muslim population in Cuba as an opportunity to expand Wahhabism.

Saudi Arabia spends around 5 billion dollars per year on the spread of Wahhabism, and ever since Erdogan became president of Turkey, Turkey has followed in the footsteps of Saudi Arabia by spending billions to spread the same violent ideology.

Both countries are major funders of jihadist-based armies that invade countries to enforce Islamic Law. When they make the call to jihad -- Islamists from around the world answer the call. One of those they called upon was al-Qaeda. Al-Qaeda's main source of funding is from Saudi Arabia.

Al-Qaeda has stated that its strategy is to use America's lax immigration laws to infiltrate the U.S. and then use the legal system to install Islamic Law. Muslims "will wrap themselves in America's rights and laws for protection, ratchet up acceptance of Sharia law, and then, when they are strong enough, rise up and violently impose Sharia from within." (9)

In the 1990s, al-Qaeda established a drugs and weapons pipeline from Afghanistan to North Africa to South America. It remains active today and in all likelihood, is the base of the pipeline for terrorists.

Never forget, ISIS was the merger of al-Qaeda in Iraq and al-Qaeda in Syria.

Al-Qaeda makes calls for jihad and removal of governments in all countries that currently have a non-Islamic government.

Countries in green mark al-Qaeda bases of operations.

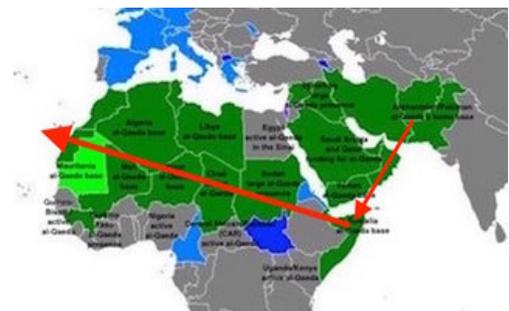

Al-Qaeda Home base: Afghanistan/Pakistan

Large bases: Yemen, Somalia, Libya, Algeria, Mauritania, Mali, and Niger

Large presence: Syria, Iraq, Egypt, Sudan and Burkina Faso

Very Active: Uganda, Kenya, Chad, CAR, Nigeria and Guinea-Bissau

Al-Qaeda's main source of funding: Saudi Arabia and Qatar

Unmarked is India; Al-Qaeda's most recent affiliate operates in India and Bangladesh and is a fast growing network.

(9) Syria reports at least 360,000 foreign fighters have come to Syria from 93 different countries. Others say 27,000-31,000 from 86 countries arrived in 2015 (but this does not count foreign fighters who arrived from 2012-2014). Soufan Group research study: http://soufangroup.com/wpcontent/uploads/2015/12/TSG_ForeignFightersUpdate_FINAL.pdf (http://soufangroup.com/wp-content/uploads/2015/12/TSG_ForeignFightersUpdate_FINAL.pdf) https://docs.google.com/viewer?url=http%3A%2F%2Fsoufangroup.com%2Fwp-content%2Fuploads%2F2015%2F12%2FTSG_ForeignFightersUpdate_FINAL.pdf&embedded=true&chrome=false&dov=1)

State Department stats, as well as Russian stats, state that ISIS alone had at least 30,000 foreign fighters in Syria in 2015 (that does not count the 10 other major Islamist armies in Syria, including the army of Jaish al-Fateh): <https://www.rt.com/usa/345269-40000-foreign-terrorists-syria/> (<https://www.rt.com/usa/345269-40000-foreign-terrorists-syria/>)

Syria's stats on foreign fighters in Syria are more accurate because they are on the ground fighting the various Islamist armies in all fourteen of Syria's provinces. They've kept track of the numbers and the various nationalities of the fighters. The top ten foreign nationalities who have gone to Syria are: Morocco, Tunisia, Western Europe, Chechnya, Ukraine, Azerbaijan, Saudi Arabia, Russia, Turkey, Jordan, Egypt, Southeast Asia. Furthermore, the research studies are extremely low because they do not take into account that:

- a. Many governments do not release estimates or travel documentation of the number of their citizens who have gone to Syria or Iraq.
- b. Some countries subtract those who have died or returned; for example, those who left from Europe, as many as 30% returned, and those numbers are omitted.
- c. Some countries do not include women and children.
- d. In all cases it is likely that more have gone than the relevant government is prepared to admit.
- e. Stats from the Soufan Group, data from 2014 and 2015, did not include the number of fighters that went to Syria from 2011-2013; hence, the number of 30,000 is extremely lower than actuality of fighters in Syria and Iraq in totality. The Syrian government estimates that at least 300,000 foreign Islamists entered Syria to join jihadi groups from 2011-2014.
- f. Countries like Chechnya do not give the numbers of children who are in the training camps, including the Caliphate Cubs, in which Chechnyans enter their children as young as three years old.
- g. Many Islamist fighters cross into Syria illegally from Turkey, Jordan, Lebanon and Saudi Arabia, and are not counted.

h. Indonesia has the largest Muslim population of any other country in the world; a population of approximately 202.9 million Muslims. The Indonesian government did not give any stats for these reports, but because there have been several instances alluding to the fact that Indonesians support the idea of terrorism as a means to spread Islam and Islamic Law, with a population of 202,900,000 Muslims, a certain percentage would support ISIS and go to Syria to fight.
